Four Seasons Health Care, a leading independent healthcare provider in the UK, wanted to upgrade and extend their existing purpose-built 1990s' nursing home on the outskirts of Oxford. The construction works were carried out in two phases whilst the care home continued to remain in full operation.

Phase 1 consisted of the construction of four distinct extensions together with upgraded facilities including a hairdressing salon, music room, residents' dining area and lounge, along with special needs bathrooms.

Phase 2 included additional en-suite accommodation and a new laundry room, together with new landscaped gardens.
